E. Nego Pile is an attorney with the Pile Law Firm, LLC practicing in the areas of elder law, estate planning and administration, guardianship, special needs planning, business law and real estate. He is currently licensed to practice law in the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and will be expanding to Georgia in 2017.

Nego helps seniors and their families plan for eligibility for Medicaid benefits (including the preparation of special needs trusts) and applying for those benefits when appropriate; creates simple to complex estate planning, including the preparation of Powers of Attorney and other Advance Directives; and advocates for his clients to assure that they receive all of the Medicare, private health insurance and long-term care insurance coverage to which they are entitled.

Nego provides key assistance to new business ventures to ensure that all legal bases are covered, and that new businesses have the best possible chance for success.

Nego is an active member of the Pennsylvania and Montgomery Bar Associations. He volunteers with the Montgomery Child Advocacy Project where he provides legal representation to children of Montgomery County who are victims of abuse and neglect. He also volunteers with the Montgomery Bar Association Civics Education Program, where he teaches civics education to Norristown area middle school students. Through the PBA Minority Bar Committee's Community Outreach Subcommittee, he regularly participates in panel discussions and speaking engagements on the legal topics in which he specializes. He is a former Board member of the Montgomery Bar Association.

Nego has organized and moderated business development forums such as: Blazing Business Trails – How to Be More Productive at Marketing and Business Development; and Opportunity in a Down Economy, Diverse Attorneys on Business Development & Marketing. He has served as a speaker and panelist at various bar events, including the PBA's Law Day; The Rise, Existence and Fall of a Law Practice; Clarence Darrow: Crimes, Causes and the Courtroom – Controversy Conflicts Challenge; and the Montgomery Bar Association's How to Hang a Shingle Without Hanging Yourself.

Nego received his J.D. (Juris Doctor) from Temple University Beasley School of Law and his B.A. in philosophy from Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut. Prior to law school, he was selected by the Council on Legal Education Opportunity to be a Thurgood Marshall Fellow at the University of Pittsburgh School of Law.
